Centre for Studies in Religion and Society

Graduate Student Fellowship

2020-2021

Topic

Fellows should be working on projects that involve the scholarly study of religion in relation to any aspect of society and culture, both contemporary and historical. Religion does not need to be the sole or central focus of the student's research, but it should be a significant consideration.

Applications from all disciplinary backgrounds are welcome.

Eligibility

Although most recipients will be UVic students, we may also award a fellowship to visiting graduate students whose projects fall within the Centre's research mandate as described above.

The awards are intended for students who have completed course work and will be at the writing stage of their graduate thesis or dissertation during the period of their fellowship.

We will also consider students enrolled in one-year MA programs.

Value

The fellowship is valued at $5,000-6,000 and includes a private office space in the CSRS Sedgewick building office at Uvic. Fellows will also have access to a mailbox located in the CSRS, fax, scanner and photocopier services, and opportunities to participate in CSRS social and academic activities.

Deadline

Monday, November 18, 2019
